

Questions and Comments Received From Webinar Attendees Directed to Specific Speakers: Philip Villanueva

Q: How can these approaches be standardized and applied? Are there any efforts on this point within the group?

A: We hope to standardize these approaches with additional workgroup efforts. I envision more in-depth discussions with subject matter experts to make sure the stats are answering the right questions and to determine if other models are more biologically relevant. Also, we would likely simulate internal-external dose data to determine how sensitive these analyses are to observed variability, number of dose groups, observations per dose group, etc.