Cynthia Duncan Private Citizen	Sir: I'm writing on behalf of myself, my [REDACTED] and my fellow human beings. My concern is about the harm being perpetrated by the telecommunications industry to all of us. The science is clear: EMF radiation from cell phones, towers, microwave transmissions is a dynamic factor in the rise of brain tumors and other health problems. Though we all want to be able to freely communicate, what will be the point if that freedom does not come with protections for our well being? Slow death through unseen forces escapes the notice of some, but the volume of the voices of those who know and understand these dangers is growing. Please hear us. Before our families are penetrated with radiation from cell towers that are lower and lower, and modems that are faster and faster, help your fellow Americans. Hold the industry accountable. Keep us safe! Sincerely, Mrs. C. Duncan
