

qualified aliens. We report a full range of estimated expenditure effects between $184 million and $1,881 million, capturing uncertainty in the baseline share of program beneficiaries who are U.S. citizens and qualified aliens. We anticipate that these expenditure effects will result in improved services and access for U.S. citizens and qualified aliens. For these effects to occur, we estimate corresponding annual costs of $21 million in the opportunity cost of time spent by individuals seeking benefits to document eligibility and time spent by individuals reviewing program eligibility, and additional transition costs for the Head Start program associated with revising standard operating procedures. A broader scope of analysis would report additional expenditure effects and costs associated with other programs covered by the notice. In a supplementary analysis, we estimate a range of potential upfront transition costs associated with revising standard operating procedures (not limited to Head Start) between $115 million to $175 million. We request comment on our estimates of benefits, costs, and transfers of this notice. We have developed a Final Economic Analysis of Impacts that assesses the impacts of this notice. The full final analysis of economic impacts is available in the docket at regulations.gov under Docket ID. AHRQ-2025-0002.
