Comments: "As you consider whether to ban the use of animals in research, please be aware that the vast majority of American scientists who use animals in their research are humane. They use animals only when necessary and make an effort to prevent suffering. I love animals and want only the best for them. I strongly oppose the thoughtless use of animals as test subjects when other options are available. But science would be crippled by an outright ban, and honestly such a ban would be an overreaction to the real state of affairs."
